

Everything you need to know about parent accounts!

Why create a parent account?

By creating a parent account and connecting to your child through Littlescribe, you become part of their writing journey. Children need to see a purpose for their writing, and having you as an audience for their books, provides that purpose and fosters pride in their achievements. You can read, comment on and share their writing, and you can celebrate together the progress they make.

Keeping students safe online:

Students can only create a book and place it in their Littlescribe library, until a parent connects to their account. Once a parent is connected, with your permission a students can share their book with the world in the Megabonkeramus library and invite friends to their Book Club.

Parents can use their Littlescribe account to:

- ✓ Create, edit and share their own or their child's original, 'for real life' digital and print books
- ✓ Read their child's original books and leave comments and emojis
- ✓ Explore the Megabonkeramus library with their child for a book by a new student author
- ✓ View an on-going record of progress in writing
- ✓ Upload examples of micro moments of writing that happen at home

Parent account details can be used for both the mobile app and the website.

Common questions about parent accounts

How do parents connect with their child's account?

If a child's school is using LittleScribe, parents will be provided with a unique code to use to connect to their child's account. A parent can also create an account for their child by signing up first as a parent, then linking their child to the account.

How do parents connect with children in multiple classes?

Each child will have their own unique parent code to connect with their account. By entering each code, parents can connect with more than one child.

When do parents get notified by LittleScribe?

Parents will be notified when their child has published a book and placed it into their library. They will receive an email with the book title, and an image of the front cover. The book can then be viewed by logging into the parent account.

Is my child's and my information protected?

Yes. When a book is published in the Megabonkeramus library, only the author's first name is visible, last names are removed. LittleScribe will never sell or rent users' personally identifiable information to third parties for any reason. We will also never sell advertising directed at students.
